

TOTALLY TOTO

There's no reason why your bathroom shouldn't be as personalised as the rest of your home. Toto's new 'Modular Home Series' collection features understated furniture in a choice of finishes and materials, plus every piece is sold separately. Perhaps the most clever item of all is the set of drawers that conceals washbasin plumbing and can be moved around easily if you want to renovate. From £443 for a wooden vanity unit (eu.toto.com).

KNIT CHIC

Norwegian designers Vibeke Skar and Ida Noemi have teamed up with ceramic artist Ann Kristin Einarsen to create this porcelain 'Story' lamp. The porcelain is slip-cast and burnt before a knitted pattern is mounted on top and then sandblasted to create an exquisite embossed finish. 'Story' lamp, £450, Vibeke Skar and Ida Noemi (gdanoemi.no)

Stop press! Lasso is a brilliant resource for architectural antiques, salvaged items and curiosities. Victorian rose brass door handles are a typical find – they'll make a grand statement on a set of doors. From £80 per pair, Lasso (lassco.co.uk).

TREE OF LIFE

This eye-catching hand-painted 'Arbre Manganese' glazed terracotta panel by Agnès Emery is inspired by the Oriental tree of life symbol. Painted freehand, each panel is a unique piece of artwork to treasure.

GOING DUTCH

Dutch duo Kiki van Eijk and Joost van Bleiswijk have created the 'Workshop' collection for Bernhardt Design. They've designed a chaise, but we adore the 40 textiles, particularly 'Block', made by spray-painting wooden bars each

Patina
semi hand